

FIFA, STOP FOUL PLAY IN QATAR

WWW.PLAYFAIRQATAR.IE

PLAYFAIR
QATAR

STRONGER TOGETHER
CONGRESS
Irish Congress of Trade Unions

FIFA, STOP FOUL PLAY IN QATAR

WWW.PLAYFAIRQATAR.IE

PLAYFAIR
QATAR

STRONGER TOGETHER
CONGRESS
Irish Congress of Trade Unions

IS A WORLD CUP GAME WORTH 100 LIVES?

More than 7,000 workers will die preparing Qatar to host the 2022 World Cup, according to estimates based on Qatar's own records. Each game will have cost the lives of more than 100 workers. If this isn't stopped will you still want to watch?

Qatar's World Cup is being built on the back of modern slavery. Qatar's laws mean workers preparing the country to host the tournament are effectively owned by their employers. They are housed in squalid accommodation, go unpaid for months and have to work on lethal construction sites. Worst of all, they can't leave their jobs, even when their lives are at risk and their contract is torn up and replaced with one offering far less pay. Employers can trap them in the country, breaching their human rights.

Recent investigations by Amnesty International and the International Labour Organization have shown that despite grand promises of reform by Qatar's government, the reality for its workers has barely changed at all.

FIFA claims it "can't change the world," but it can, and should, force its World Cup hosts to play by the rules.

If this issue makes you angry take a campaign selfie of you and your friends holding the front of this leaflet and send it to photos@playfairqatar.org or tweet using #playfairqatar

IS A WORLD CUP GAME WORTH 100 LIVES?

More than 7,000 workers will die preparing Qatar to host the 2022 World Cup, according to estimates based on Qatar's own records. Each game will have cost the lives of more than 100 workers. If this isn't stopped will you still want to watch?

Qatar's World Cup is being built on the back of modern slavery. Qatar's laws mean workers preparing the country to host the tournament are effectively owned by their employers. They are housed in squalid accommodation, go unpaid for months and have to work on lethal construction sites. Worst of all, they can't leave their jobs, even when their lives are at risk and their contract is torn up and replaced with one offering far less pay. Employers can trap them in the country, breaching their human rights.

Recent investigations by Amnesty International and the International Labour Organization have shown that despite grand promises of reform by Qatar's government, the reality for its workers has barely changed at all.

FIFA claims it "can't change the world," but it can, and should, force its World Cup hosts to play by the rules.

If this issue makes you angry take a campaign selfie of you and your friends holding the front of this leaflet and send it to photos@playfairqatar.org or tweet using #playfairqatar

